CONTENTS

	PAGE
All round the Fire	305
Courtship	511
Dead Sorrow's Kin:
Chap. IV. 'Between the Dawn and the Day-time'	69
V. Love well the Hour, and let it go	75
VI. Blossom not Thorns?	81
VII. 'This is an Evil born with all its Teeth'	88
VIII. Out of Dream's Projections	197
IX. Every Existence has its Idiom	204
X. 'The Die rang sideways as it fell'	212
XI. Gone deeper than all Plummets sound	218
XII. 'Behold, there is no Grief like this'	325
XIII. Now, surely somewhere there is Death	337
XIV. He is not, and none knoweth of such an one	349
XV. This bitter Love is Sorrow in all Lands	451
XVI. Good Night!—Good Rest	456
Echoes from the Royal Academy	421
George Lovelace's Temptation	229
German 'Zoo,' A	353
How I went to Court: a proud Confession	294
James Gillray, Politicomastik	166
Lord Lytton as a Fabulist	108
Lost for Love:
Chaps. XIV.-XVI.	5
XVII.-XX.	133
XXI.-XXIV.	261
XXV.-XXVII.	389
Mr. Swinburne's new Poem	516
Music at Home	375
My Recollections of Fenton Grammar School	33
Negro Love-Letters	246
On Dinners 'sent out' from the Pastrycook's: a Homily	54
On some recent Biographies	181
People whom we miss	359
Philister versus Snob	252
Plump for Blinker! An Election Reminiscence	222

276156

Poems: PAGE
Before the Ball 165
Days that are gone 324
Lady of Black Friars, The 436
Life and Death 388
On the Moorland 321
Perjured Tryst, The 357
Sicut Sagitta volat irrevocabile Verbum 260
Slain at Colchester 308
Three Generations, The 52
Two Evenings by the Lake 469
Proverbs 64
Royal Salute, A 177
Russian Court in the Sixteenth Century, The 99
Summer on the Bosphorus 312
That Eventful Night:
Chaps. I.-IV. 481
True Story of the Sewing-Machine, The 470
'Twas the Wind 418
Under the Umbrella 427
Venus de' Medici's Marriage, The. A Story of a Connoisseur's Craze . 438
Very low People indeed 186
Waterloo Festival, A 430
'Well Done:'
Chap. I. 'Lord of Himself, though not of Lands' 117
II. 'The Rift within the Lute' 122
III. 'Each bearing his Burden of Sorrow' 125
IV. In Peril of Death 128
V. 'Rounded with a Sleep' 130
Where are the Snuffers? 194
Willow-Pattern Papers:
No. I. Official Highfalutin 381

ILLUSTRATIONS

'It was all over' . . . . . Drawn by R. Caldecott Frontispiece
Three Generations . . . . . George Kirby . . 52
'Which is it to be?' . . . . . H. French . . 76
Looking at Owen's Home . . . . . Louis Huard . . 126
Waiting for Walter's Return . . . . . R. Caldecott . . 147
Before the Ball . . . . . George Kirby . . 165
'How do you do, Mrs. Hilyard?' . . . . . H. French . . 199
'Ethel, look here' . . . . . W. J. Hennessy . 243
Flora's Visitor . . . . . R. Caldecott . . 278
A grim Procession . . . . . C. Cattermole . . 308
Luncheon at the Crown . . . . . H. French . . 334
The perjured Tryst . . . . . George Kirby . . 357
Flora on her Sketching Expedition . . . . . R. Caldecott . . 411
The Lady of Black Friars . . . . . George Kirby . . 436
Evening by the Lake . . . . . R. P. Leitch . . 469
'Nothing has happened, Love?' . . . . . H. French . . 491